DAMM BREWERY, SPAIN

DAMM ESTRELLA Barcelona, SPAIN

In the spring of 1872, August Kuentzmann Damm and his wife Melanie left their native Alsace because of the franco-prussian war. Like many immigrants of their time, they chose to live in Barcelona. In Alsace, towards the end of the 18th Century, people were already talking of the opportunities offered by Mediterranean countries. Their climate. Their food. Their quality of life. A group of countries which, at that time, were living the giddy days of modernism.

In 1876, August founded his beer company in order to continue doing what he had always done: produce beer, which is exactly what his children, grandchildren and eleven generations of master brewers have continued to do right up until the present day.

After more than 130 years, they continue to produce beer with the same excitement as they did the first time Estrella left our factory.
